Subject: Important Update on COVID-19

Dear Jason & Rene Goldberg

Please note that with the rapidly growing COVID-19 pandemic, we have heeded the call from the government to take the necessary precautions to avoid further spreading of the virus (and this includes having all our staff work from home). Fortunately, the nature of our business allows us to continue operating remotely, and everyone on our team has been equipped to do just that. We, therefore, want to give you the reassurance that we will be continuing with business “as usual” as much as reasonably possible (and with the necessary precaution).

This is not to say that some projects won't be affected as delivery or payment delays may occur in some instances, but we will continue monitoring all projects closely to mitigate the risk for our investors. We are actively engaging with all our stakeholders to find the best ways to work together during this period, and this includes (but is not limited to):

1. Additional vetting of the supplier's ability to continue operating and fulfill orders during this period
2. Getting the assurances we need from procurement departments that open orders will not be canceled
3. Exploring any possible integrations that can be created for our vetting and follow-ups, in the event that everyone is forced to stay at home in the coming week(s)

There will be some changes here and there as everyone adjusts to this, but we do remain optimistic about positive outcomes in the future.

We are also expecting a surge in projects from the Department Of Health and we have already availed ourselves to the department to help with whatever they may need. We expect your capital to save lives in this regard. This is just another confirmation of how important the work we do is, and our continued collaboration will help drive the changes we need to see to save our country.

Let's spare a thought for small businesses, freelancers, the impoverished, as well as the ill; this outbreak will be hardest on them.

Please take good care of yourself and your loved ones.

Sincerely,

Yolisa Jafta I Drill Sergeant, The People's Fund
