LOBMEYR CANDY DISH

DESIGNER

Oswald Haerdtl, 1925

MANUFACTURER

Lobmeyr

DESCRIPTION

Originally designed for the "Exposition des Arts Décoratifs" in Paris in 1925, this timeless candy dish is an elegant and simple family heirloom.

Each Lobmeyr piece results from the combined expertise of 24 meticulous pairs of hands and 4 stages of quality control. The Lobmeyr heirs have carried on the family legacy of crystal and glass making, impeccable craftsmanship and timeless design since 1823, inspecting every piece before they are released.

The revered manufacturers have purveyed to the imperial courts of Austria, Sweden, Spain, Germany and Greece as well as Siam, the Maharajah of Baroda and Mao Tse-Tung along with a loyal clientele of connoisseurs around the world. Today, the Austrian glass manufacturers' work belongs to numerous private and public collections including those of the Cooper Hewitt Museum and the Museum of Les Arts Décoratifs among others.
